Interviewing Witnesses/Victims/Respondents

-be mindful of the language you are using: Examples:

> complainant/ accuser respondent/ perpetrator

-other things to consider:

-make sure that your space is comfortable

- -be aware of your own biases and set them aside/ listen without judging
- -give the witness, complainant or respondent space to ask questions they ma have
- check in with them frequently to ensure that they understand the process
- -body language
- -do not touch the person to comfort or calm them
- -listen and empathize
- -acknowledge their feelings even when you disagree

Treat the parties the way you want to be treated.

Keep Bias Out

Studies show that people who know they have biases and admit them show less implicit bias.

Preferences and stereotypes can affect the way we interact with people.

Unconscious bias/implicit bias - beliefs that reflect attitudes and stereotypes that inform our subconscious information processing - we are not necessarily aware of these biases

Confirmation bias - the tendency to interpret new evidence or information as confirmation of one's existing beliefs or theories.

Memory bias - factors that influence how well we remember, or don't remember, how quickly we are able to recall certain events KE NOTES

"Like Me" bias/affinity bias - investigator tends to favor information received from witnesses who are, in some respect, "like" the investigator.
